CREATING BUY-IN WITH POSITIVE BEHAVIOR SUPPORT TEAMS

Rachel Freeman, Stacy Danov, & Michael Smull

This webinar will address how to support people with disabilities who are challenging us to think differently about the ways we can create person-centered home and community settings. Effective teams encourage the use of empathy, mindfulness, and consensus building, especially when strong emotions are present among individual members. Presenters will describe team-based strategies and tools based on both person-centered practices and positive behavior support practices.

Rachel Freeman is the Director of State Initiatives for the Institute on Community Integration at the University of Minnesota. Dr. Freeman has been actively involved in positive behavior support (PBS), statewide technical assistance systems for evidence-based practices, evaluation design and implementation, and person-centered practices for over 20 years. She conducts research and provides consultation and technical assistance at the state, regional, and local levels to teams implementing positive behavior support (PBS) and other practices within IDD organizations, education, juvenile justice, and mental health systems.

Stacy Danov, Ph.D., LP, has experience working as a Psychologist implementing person centered practices and positive behavior supports in Minnesota. Dr. Danov is a certificated Person Centered Thinking and Person Centered Planning Picture of a Life trainer. Her passion is to support people to get the lives they want to live. During her free time, she enjoys spending time with her family, being active, and cooking.

Michael Smull is the Chair of The Learning Community for Person Centered Practices (TLC-PCP) and a senior partner in Support Development Associates (SDA). He is the co-developer of Essential Lifestyle Planning and has worked in 48 states and seven countries. He has helped found three (3) community agencies, assisted existing agencies with the conversion from programs to supports, and helped states, regions, and counties change their structures in order to support self-determination. He has helped people leave institutions in the US and the UK.
